

Department for
Digital, Culture
Media & Sport

Matt Agar

Matt Agar is Building Digital UK's (BDUK's) strategy director and is responsible for the strategy and design of government's delivery programmes for broadband connectivity, including the £5 billion Project Gigabit.

Matt has been a telecoms/IT/infrastructure commercial professional for 21 years and leads BDUK's team of strategy, geospatial, data modelling and research specialists to enable BDUK to achieve its infrastructure and broadband objectives and support network operators to invest in networks across the UK.